is settling in," she wrote. "So when you're out there walking around not talking about anything and you look up and see something awful, you need the strength of a Vestal Virgin to get up and walk away again. And if you don't, if you're a real pansy, you screw it and go sit in the nearest window." Joan Rivers is also not a fan of the kind of "pornographic" movies that many actresses make now. In Uma's essay for the magazine she writes about divorcing the hypochondriacal actor Rip Torn ("The first person I'd seen, the one person who had the disease... the very core of my anxiety... the source of all of my jealousy... the throbbingly annoying person in the world"), and how Hollywood helped to destroy her marriage to musician Ted Fielding.
